

READINGS FOR THE GOOD SOCIETY

While not every selection in this collection of readings will be covered explicitly in class, students are expected to read all of them, for they will provide the background and context for discussions in class. Students should read very carefully the following selections: they will receive significant and sustained attention in class: Crediting Poetry, The Apology, The Republic, Letter for Birmingham City Jail, The Contemporary Constitution, and Draft for a Statement of Human Obligations. Students should feel free to read any of the selections, where they are available, in their own language.
